Report Number: CS/21/297

To: Community Services
Date: 12th October 2021
Responsible Officer: Town Clerk
Subject: Museum

SUMMARY:

This report provides an update on Folkestone Museum's work covering the period 23rd March to 18th May 2021.

REASONS FOR RECOMMENDATION:

The long-term agreement between the Town Council and National Lottery Heritage Lottery (principal funder) to deliver its heritage objectives: to preserve and enhance the town's heritage through the provision of Folkestone Museum.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. To receive and note report CS/21/297

Aims and Objectives – Maintaining an accredited museum
Financial Implications – Meeting the requirements of NLHF & Council within budget
Equal Opportunities – Access to all

1. Introduction

The Museum successfully reopened on Tuesday 25th May 2021 on a 5-days-per-week basis, keeping in place Covid secure measures, such as the one-way route and limits on the number of people in defined spaces throughout the galleries and education room.

With the end of legal requirements during July, the decision was made to retain these measures as visible but voluntary to aid visitors and FTC staff confidence. Weekly reviews of Government guidance continue to be made so that the Museum can operate in the safest yet most accessible way possible.

2. Exhibitions

As previously noted the Rev. David Railton exhibition will continue its run through the summer period, now finishing its run on Saturday 13th November to coincide with remembrance Sunday and Armistice day. It will then transfer permanently to St Mary's & St Eanswythe's Church; the Curator has been supporting The Friends of St Eanswythe's and Father John Walker on how to adapt the exhibition.

The William Harvey exhibition opened on the 22nd July to coincide with the Folkestone Triennial. Envisaged as a totally original, but temporary exhibition, the decision was decided to augment the permanent Harvey display with a trail of previously unseen material through the Museum instead, finishing with Stephanie Bergman's Blood Branches in the Temporary Exhibition Room.

This has led to a saving on exhibition costs and removed the need to temporarily redisplay the permanent Harvey exhibit. The extra space generated in the Exhibition Room by this approach has also allowed the display of items from the art collection which have not been seen for many years.

As noted above Stephanie Bergman's Blood Branches has been displayed within the Museum. The loan of this work from the artist was facilitated by Creative Folkestone, being one of the key waypoints on the Triennial art trail; this partner working has had a positive effect on Museum footfall at a time when the operational environment was challenging due to the pandemic.

3. Outreach and Education

The school's membership scheme launched in June 2021 with contact made with all primary schools within the Town Council boundary. At the time of writing three schools are signed up with five classes visiting so far in September; this means that approximately 700 Folkestone children are already guaranteed at least one workshop and meaningful museum visit as part of their curriculum during the current school year. Work to sign up more schools continues and will include schools outside the boundary, such as Hawkinge and Sandgate (for which ad-hoc bookings are already taken).

The Audience Development Officer is currently working with home-schooling families to develop a Museum resource for children that learn in informal environments with a well-attended taster/consultation workshop held on the 1st October. This provision will include a set of smaller loans boxes similar to those already offered to schools and in-museum workshops where families can join together for tailored workshops based on those offered to schools.

With the growth in learning a third member of Museum staff will shortly be joining the Council to bolster the Museum's capacity to work with learners of all kinds.

Informal engagement continues to grow, with a very successful summer holiday offer which saw 750 participants take part in activities in the education room; the holiday was broken down into themed weeks, starting with William Harvey and end with ever-popular dinosaurs.

Moving into September an Anglo-Saxons history day was held jointly with St Mary's & St Eanswythe's Church as it coincided with St Eanswythe's Day, she herself being an Anglo-Saxon. The event was formally opened by the Mayor and concluded with a folk performance about St Eanswythe in the evening.

This informal engagement has also given the opportunity of welcoming back some of the Museum's volunteers.

The Museum's membership of the Kent wide 'Wheels of Time' scheme continues to bring families from other areas of Kent who are following the 40+ trail of museums in the county; so far over 60 children have earned their Folkestone Museum badge since reopening.

The programme for Museum events and activities through to the end of the year is now available on the What's On webpage and now includes accessibly priced adult education classes, which will take place during October and November.

4. Friends of Folkestone Museum

The Friends of Folkestone Museum monthly lectures continue to be very well received with numbers well in the 50's. During this reporting period themes have included Moths & Butterflies and the history of Harvey Grammar School, an outing to Samphire Hoe was also held during August.

5. Conservation and Collection's Care

The Arthur Brough Collection has now returned from the Kent History and Library Centre, having been fully digitised and once fully catalogued will be available on the Leas Pavilion Archive website and the Museum's own collections catalogue.

Work to audit the collection has recommenced, with volunteers undertaking MODES training to assist with location recording as they return after lockdown.

Conservation work as recommenced with Dana Goodburn-Brown and Marie Le-Saux working with the Curator; this being funded by credit for days that could not be worked during lockdown; the cost having been sponsored by the National Lottery.

6. Town Trail

Reade Signs are ready to under a pre-installation visit and content & graphic design is almost finished, progress awaits F&HDC permission for installation.
